February was filled with so many great things and as we enter March there are more events that are planned.

By now you should have received your child's evaluation. Our evaluations are like guidelines for our teachers and parents. Teachers will be able to see your child's strengths as well as areas where they need help in. Since we only have your child for a limited amount of time it is beneficial for parents to work with their children at home. Simple games like Candyland can help with color recognition and counting. Having your child cut healthy foods out of a newspaper ad and paste it on a piece of paper will help with their fine motor skills and learn about healthy food choices. Also, you can read to your child everyday, point out letters that they need to work on, and play word games like let's count how many words can you make up with the letter "b".

Please arrive to class on time and pick your child up on time. When you are dropping your child off late it disrupts the class and at times it may make your child feel embarrassed and not want to participate. I also want to remind parents to take your child to the bathroom before class. Everyday at least two to three students from each classroom are asking to use the bathroom during morning circle. This would help our teachers out tremendously as they are trying to lead their classroom.

Thank you to all the parents that did presentations. We learned about several different cultures and other countries. I also want to thank all the parents who volunteered to carpool to Albertsons. The students had so much fun learning about and eating healthy foods.
